Bob spent three and a half years in the US Navy before going to work for his family's chemical manufacturing company, Reilly Industries. Bob was Commercial Manager and Director for the company, where he worked until it was sold in 2005 when he retired full time.

Currently, this Illinois native serves on the board of directors for the Ocala Symphony Orchestra and the Community Foundation. In 2005, Bob's mother passed away under the care of hospice in Indianapolis at age 96. Then after 30 years of marriage, Bob's wife passed away in 2007.

Now Bob is devoting his life to charitable work and hopes to make a difference in our community.
